School Assistance
Southern Cross Educational Enterprises Ltd offers service and support to schools in various ways.

Some areas of support include:

- National and state networks - networking at local, state and national levels, to share information and encouragement within the context of our common commitment to Biblical worldview education.

- School registration support - working with schools to assist them to tailor available documentation to meet their registration requirements, and to assist them to source extra materials and share this information with other schools in the network – state and national.

- Professional development and support - usually occurs at state network conferences and forums. The ESD team or team members share information, professional knowledge, resources and research findings. Schools are alerted to compliance issues. The ESD team values information and suggestions from schools that will help us to be aware of professional development needs.

- Compliance and the Australian Curriculum - workshop sessions assist understanding of the Australian Curriculum and the significance of the Audit tools as an educational resource. At such times, ESD shares the tools that have been developed for schools, teaching how these tools have been developed and how they might be applied in the school.

- Electronic Scope and Sequence - SCEE has developed a full Scope and Sequence in electronic format both for compliance purposes and for reproduction in student transcripts for graduation certificates.

- School visits - are available on request to share time with school staff to share information and encouragement. School visits give important feedback to SCEE as to what schools in the regions need to support them in carrying out their responsibilities.

- Curriculum Development - the preparation of revised and new curriculum materials for use in Australia, the South Pacific and in international contexts where appropriate. Dr George Sears is the Coordinator. georgesears@scee.edu.au

- Leading From Your Strengths (LFYS) - is a diagnostic tool which can be used to assess the leadership attributes and personality traits of individuals. LFYS is ideal for individual self-awareness and for application in a team setting. Understanding personal strengths and operational styles can enhance organizational involvement and personal interaction with others. In leadership teams or work group situations, understanding colleagues’ strengths can give insight into how goals might be accomplished with harmony and understanding, and help to establish realistic expectations for individuals in the team or work group. LFYS is a tool that can assist employers with staff recruitment and provide insights for counseling and conflict resolution. Bert Pretorius, Chief Operations Officer, is the Coordinator. bertpretorius@scee.edu.au
